POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

It almost seems profane to write of politics at a time when the whole nation is still shuddering from the horror story of Jap atrocities perpetrated against American boys in the Philippines, but there will be many political repercussions in the wake of the revelations.

With thousands of mothers and fathers in agony over the fate of their sons, captured on Bataan or Corregidor, and with a fierce flame of indignation sweeping the entire country, the American people will expect and demand a higher order of public service, and will be bitterly resentful of political bickering which interferes with the war effort.

Likewise, there will be sharp reaction against strikes and all work stoppages, with the possibility that there will be a determined demand for enactment of a "No Strike" law.

There will also be a demand, in all likelihood, for vigorous action against organizations agitating for a negotiated peace. The term "unconditional surrender" has taken on a new, grim meaning.

Just what the impact of the staggering revelations will be on the presidential race is highly debatable, but one thing is certain—the American people will sharply scrutinize every man who offers himself for public office this year and will be looking for conscientious leadership. It may well be that the disclosures of Japanese brutality will force both the Democratic and Republican high commands to guard against undue bitterness during the campaign, for people whose sons have been tortured and wantonly murdered are certain to resent any act which creates disunity and slows the day of retribution.

Political leaders are already speculating on the possible effect of the atrocity revelations on the incipient boom for General MacArthur as a presidential candidate. There are many who believe that General MacArthur would far rather go to Tokio than to the White House—and that well-intentioned backers are rendering him a distinct disservice in injecting his name into political discussions at this time. On the other hand, there are some who believe that the voters might now be more inclined to turn to a strong military leader for President, if they became con-

Melodrama to be Presented by The Footlighters

"He Ain't Done Right by Nell," a one-act melodrama, is being rehearsed by members of The Footlighters as a fitting wind-up for the Old Settlers' day celebration in Campbell Feb. 22.

Under the direction of Bob Weaver, the melodrama will be staged in the high school auditorium, complete with numerous oleos following the production. For the oleos, now in preparation, Archie Keesling will be master of ceremonies.

The dashing young hero of the thriller is played by Budd Levenberg, well remembered for his excellent work in former plays. The winsome heroine, Nell, is played by a newcomer to the Campbell stage, Dorothy Fortaine, formerly of the Pasadena Players. Laverna Hodges, also well-known to local audiences, takes the part of the lovely maiden spurned. The villain, as dastardly a scoundrel as ever pursued a fair damsel, is played by Jack Murdock, a seasoned veteran of Footlighter productions. Other players of recognized ability rounding out the excellent cast are Florence Smith as the old maid, Marion Nelson as Granny Perkins, and LBen Howard as the mill owner and dignified business executive.

Tickets for the production, sales of which are being directed by Herbert Shadle, may be purchased at local business houses starting this week. Proceeds from the entertainment will go to the chamber of commerce.

Local Girl Is Marine

A graduate of Campbell Union High school, now a member of the Marine Corps Women's Reserve, Helen Wheeler was recently promoted to the rank of private first class. She is now on duty at Camp Pendleton, Ocean-side, Calif.

Pfc. Wheeler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wheeler of Stockton. Enlisting in the Marine Corps last July, she received her six weeks' recruit training at Camp Lejeune, New River, North Carolina.

Frank W. Ferro, S 2/c, has been moved from the U. S. Navy training school at Faragut, Idaho to the naval station at Manchester, Wash.

vinced the war could be shortened thereby.

Another almost certain reaction as a result of the Jap atrocity disclosures will be a demand that news of the war—even when it is bad news—not be held back from the people. There were many indications that the home front was plagued with over-confidence and a feeling that the war was all but won before the horror story of the Philippines broke. But if America isn't awake now, then this writer doesn't know Americans!

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

Mrs. E. R. Kennedy Is Hostess to Service Club

The Women's Service club celebrated its 15th anniversary on Jan. 26 at the home of Mrs. E. R. Kennedy where it had its inception in 1929. Assisting Mrs. Kennedy were Mrs. W. R. Saveker, Mrs. M. J. Bohnett, and Mrs. C. E. Hancock.

Past Presidents, Mrs. W. N. Lloyd, Mrs. A. W. Wellington and Mrs. G. E. Farley assisted in receiving members and guests. Mrs. N. O. Best of Oakland, the club's first secretary, Mrs. Lois Rice Burke of Vallejo, Mrs. Matthew Burns of San Jose, and Mrs. Fred Rost of Campbell, charter members, were guests.

Mrs. Kennedy read a partial list of activities of the club during its lifetime, showing the change in emphasis due to the depression, and later, the war. The largest number of people given baskets at Christmas was 125, and the largest piece of war work was the payment for all the Red Cross tables. The Rev. Donald Baldwin responded to a request for ideas for the future development of the club with several concrete suggestions.

Dainty corsages were presented to the ten charter members who are still active and the four visitors.

The dining room was attractive with its table arranged with lace over rose satin, and its pink and orchid chrysanthemums and heather. A large birthday cake was a feature of the afternoon.

Mrs. Ira Abbott and Mrs. C. E. York presided at the tea table.

Mrs. LBen Howard is the president of the club for the current year.

Annual Guest Day Of Pundita Circle To be Held Feb. 16

Pundita Circle met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Stanley B. Smith, with Mrs. Wilbur Mitchell and Mrs. Rose Hanger assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Edith Latta gave a most enjoyable talk on "Appreciation of the Influence of Foreign Music on Our Own," which she illustrated with excerpts from the music of various composers.

Richard Gordon presented his grammar school orchestra in several selections.

The usual social hour was enjoyed, and dainty refreshments were served.

This week the circle met with Mrs. M. E. Purmort for Red Cross work.

Wednesday, Feb. 16, the group will meet in Community hall. Hostesses will be Mesdames Fred Stephens, Earl Booker, George Rucker, B. O. Curry, Walker Vaughn, and Kenneth Robison. This will be the annual guest day of the circle.

Sigma Meeting Scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 8

Members of Sigma Sigma club will meet at the Congregational manse on Tuesday, Feb. 8 for a social evening. Mrs. Helen Garner and Miss Hancie Naylor will be hostesses, assisted by the Misses Dorothy and Gladys Merri-man.

Miss Rachel Spradling will give a brief review of Van Dusen's "What Is the Church Doing?" Miss Dorothy Merri-man will be in charge of the musical entertainment.

Rosicrucian Order Is Discussed At Kiwanis Meeting

Jay McCullough gave the Kiwanis club a most interesting history of the Rosicrucian order at Tuesday's meeting, presented by Dr. W. R. Morgan, chairman.

He discussed the beginning of thinking man and told of beginnings of the Rosicrucian history which dates back to 1500 B. C. In the 18th dynasty of Egyptian rulers the reigning kings recognized the so-called "mystery schools," which contained the philosophy of that day. He touched upon history down to King "Tut."

The Rosicrucians compose a lodge along philosophic lines, with members of many creeds and religions.

Their international headquarters are in Brussels, Belgium, and San Jose is headquarters for North and South America, with 75,000 members in the two continents.

The work of the order calls for an enormous amount of mail and requires many clerks, stenographers and other help.

The Rosicrucians conduct a summer school at which eminent teachers of the country give lectures.

McCullough had several museum specimens with him which he described and explained.

Gilbert DuMont, instructor of instrumental music at Campbell Union High school played two trumpet solos, accompanied by Mrs. DuMont.

W. H. Van Dyke gave an up-to-the-minute report on the raised as of that date.

Visitors were James H. Price, campaign director for the war chest, Joe McKinnon, Maurice Moore, Orin Bell of the San Jose Y.M.C.A., Allen Bishop of Montana, brother of Ray Bishop.

Next week George Gilman of San Jose will discuss "Prunes," with Joe Gomes as chairman.

BOND SALES STILL SHORT OF QUOTA

W. N. Lloyd reported that as of Wednesday the sale of bonds for the Fourth War Loan totaled $118,548.25, just $26,451.75 short of the total yet to be subscribed.

The drive is slowing up, he reports, but a response from everyone who can possibly buy at least a $25 bond should complete the quota.

If anyone has not been contacted by a bond salesman, he is reminded that bonds may be purchased at the post office or from either Mr. Lloyd or W. H. Van Dyke, or phone the high school and a salesman will be sent. In any case, urges the war loan committee, "Buy an extra bond."

Mrs. L. R. Austin is mourning the loss of her mother, Mrs. Minnie Loretta Dodge, whose death in San Jose occurred Jan. 29. Services were held Tuesday afternoon in San Jose.

The Country Woman's club will hold its annual birthday celebration and tea at which past presidents will be specially honored Monday afternoon, Feb. 7, in Community hall at 2:30. This meeting will be of special interest to new members of the club, as each past president will give the interesting highlights of her administration. There will be a musical program.

Members are asked not to overlook the collection which is to be taken up for the student loan fund.

The committee in charge of the day's activities includes Mesdames Jessie Shelley, Milton Robertson, I. R. Abbott, J. A. Forward, Ricardo Villafuerte, Donald Page and Ernest Fahler.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The Boy Scouts of America, this week, celebrates its 34th anniversary. All persons connected with war activities on the home front know how much the Scouts have helped to put every effort across.

Boy Scout Week gives the American people a chance to recognize their worth. It reminds us also of their volunteer adult leaders—the Scoutmasters—without whose guidance and encouragement no Troop could long continue. These men are working harder and longer in factories and offices. Many are also air raid wardens and victory gardeners. But their devotion to their Scouts never falters, which is a higher compliment to Scouting than anyone else can pay.

The man who leads a Scout Troop is doing an important war job. Whether he is continuing a peacetime activity or merely "filling in" for the duration, the Scoutmaster renders an essential service to the community and to the nation. His "compensation" is the satisfaction of watching individual growth and enjoying the gratitude and friendship of his boys.

There are Boy Scout Troops now which need adult leadership. Men who help the boyhood of their respective neighborhoods deserve recognition and encouragement from all.

THE GOVERNOR'S OBLIGATION

As we see it, Wendell Willkie has undoubtedly increased his stature with California voters by choosing to remain out of the state presidential primary in order to preserve harmony in the Republican party of California. His decision prevents a quarrel that inevitably would have strained party unity in the state.

By declining to make the race, he reaffirms the party leadership of Governor Warren and assures a united Republican front next November. There is no doubt that this move on Mr. Willkie's part strengthens the Governor as a political figure and protects the state G. O. P. from family dissension that could only re-act, no matter what the result, to the ultimate benefit of the New Deal.

But in giving his assurances to Mr. Willkie, Governor Warren has accepted an important obligation. He has reiterated his pledge that he is not and will not become a candidate for either the presidency or the vice presidency. He has promised that the delegation he will lead to Chicago will not share in the stop-Willkie plot of the party's East Coast old guard die-hards.

He has assured Mr. Willkie and his thousands of California supporters that the delegation will be fairly selected and truly representative. This assurance means that Mr. Willkie's popularity among the rank-and-file Republicans of California will be reflected with scrupulous care and fairness when delegates are selected.

The responsibility for bringing this about rests squarely on the competent shoulders of Governor Warren. It is his obligation to many thousands of California voters. It is an obligation he will carry out faithfully.

CALIFORNIA GLAMOUR

The Population Commission, which recently predicted that California will become the biggest state in the Union, now tells us, in effect, that we're the No. 1 Glamour Girl of all the states.

"All signs indicate that California remains the land of romance and prosperity in the minds of millions who would like to live here," reports the commission. "As long as that desire persists, California will grow."

That makes it official, but can't you just hear Florida crying: "What's she got that I haven't got?" The answer is "We got glamour!"

BEASTS IN HUMAN FORM

The unspeakable Jap atrocities which have been revealed by some of our fighting men who escaped from the Philippines have shocked and revolted the whole Nation.

We had known, of course, that the Japs were treacherous, brutal and vicious. We had known that they beheaded prisoners of war; that they ravaged women and children in captured cities—and that they had been guilty of almost every crime against humanity which depraved minds could conceive.

But somehow we were not prepared for the horror story of American boys being starved, tortured and wantonly murdered in Jap prison camps. That reveals a depth of depravity such as the world has not known since the dark ages.

We are not fighting men in the Pacific; we are fighting beasts in human form—beasts that must be wiped from the face of the earth, if civilization is to endure. Every real American boiled with righteous anger as he read of the brutal atrocities committed against our men captured on Bataan and Corregidor. If we were not fighting mad before, we certainly are now—and there will be a day of fearful retribution for the beasts of Japan. We only hope that day is not too long delayed.

LINCOLN WOULD LAUGH

More than once, as history and the Life of Abraham Lincoln show, the Great Emancipator, whose birthday we celebrate this month, was saved in the nick of time by a great and useful sense of humor.

We believe that Lincoln's beloved, homely face would twist into a grin if he could read the Seabee composition paraphrasing his own historic address at Gettysburg, written nearly meter for meter with his words, but describing the plight of a construction battalion in the South Pacific.

"Two score and seven days ago," carpenter's mate Arvin Sell writes, "our battalion brought forth upon this island a new project, conceived in a foxhole and dedicated to the proposition that all Japs are created evil. . . .

"The world will little note nor long remember what we build here, but we shall never forget the hash and beans we ate here. . . . Let us resolve that we shall not have sweat in vain; that this battalion shall have 30 days of freedom in the U. S. by Easter, and that this thought shall not perish from our hopes."

The parody will offend none but the narrow and unthinking. The boys in the battle areas need a sense of humor as desperately as Lincoln did in his war travails. We venture the belief that the great man himself—who never could keep a straight face when anything comical was going on, and who understood ceremonial pomp far less than he understood his fellow men—would be the first to give a loud guffaw at the humor of the struggling young Americans who unabashed, produce a parody on the words of their idol.

And Abraham Lincoln, who pardoned a young sentry who fell asleep on duty, undoubtedly would hope that those Seabee buddies of carpenter's mate Sell, building their bridges and gun emplacements and sanitary systems in the South Pacific mud, get their "30 days of freedom in the U. S. by Easter." We do.

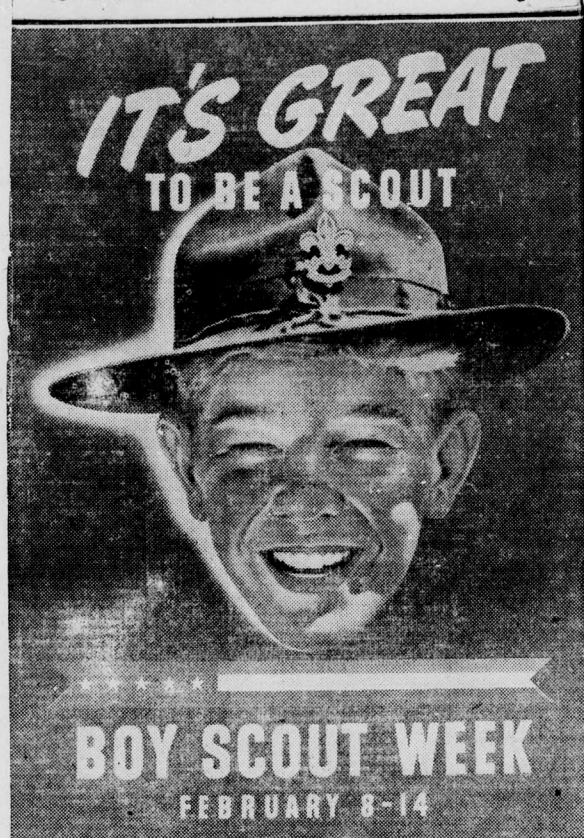

IT'S ALL VERY SIMPLE

If you're getting spots before your eyes trying to figure out how much you owe your Uncle Sam in income tax, it may be comforting to know that even the tax experts are having difficulties.

One confused citizen took his problem right to the Office of Internal Revenue. One expert said he owed $60, another put it at $222, and a third said he had a refund coming.

He is backing expert number three!

Scouts Mark 34th Anniversary

More than 1,600,000 Boy Scouts, Cubs and their adult volunteer leaders will observe Boy Scout Week, Feb. 8 to 14, marking the 34th anniversary of the founding of Scouting in the United States. Since 1910, more than 11,400,000 American boys and men have agreed that—"It's Great to be a Scout!"

INCOME TAX INFORMATION

Remo Cepolla, deputy internal revenue tax collector, head of the San Jose office, has authorized the statement that persons receiving federal old age pensions of $500 are not required to file an income tax return, unless they have other income of at least $100.

This notice is being published to avoid the many inquiries at the San Jose office and accountants who make out returns for patrons.

Herold Morton, who has credentials as an income tax accountant was authorized by Cepolla to make this statement, and is responsible for its appearing.

Bomber Output
On December 7, 1941, building of a four-engine bomber required the work of 70 men for one year. Only 17 workers do the same job today.

Eddie Simpson, third class petty officer of the U. S. Navy, visited this week with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Reynolds of Campbell and his cousin, Mrs. F. E. Johnson of San Jose. Simpson is from Kentucky.

Philosophies At War

Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen

As Monsignor Sheen writes "There are two ways of looking at the war; one as a journalist, the other as a theologian." Countless volumes have been written and read of the journalist while perhaps a comparatively few volumes have been either written or read of the theologian about this war.

Most people are acquainted with Mgr. Sheen through his nationally famous radio addresses on the Catholic hour, where he has been speaking since the program was inaugurated in March 1930 by the National Council of Catholic Men. Mgr. Sheen was the first speaker on the hour and has been invited to return every year from about the beginning of the year until Easter Sunday. The Catholic hour however, was far from the beginning of Mgr. Sheen's fame. Distinguished first as a scholar, he was educated in this country and in Europe. In 1926 the University of Louisville awarded him the Cardinal Mercier prize for international philosophy; and in 1936 he received the Cardinal Mazzella medal from Georgetown university. He now teaches philosophy at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C.

Mgr. Sheen gives in this book his conception of the underlying causes of the war, and of the way by which the war may be most truly won. This is not only a war between armies, he explains; the battles we are fighting are but the physical manifestations of the revolution that is going on. In this revolution we must defeat "the active barbarism from without and we must defeat the passive barbarism from within."

There are three kinds of freedom in the world, says Mgr. Sheen: "freedom to do what you please; freedom to do what you must; and freedom to do what you ought."

Not since our country was forced into the war have I read a book that filled me anew with faith, confidence in my fellow man, and love of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Krohn of San Francisco spent part of Monday and Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. Edna F. Smith.

Sgt. Murray Cook who had been stationed at the Gainesville Army Air Field in Gainesville, Texas, has been transferred to Indianapolis, Indiana.

Open Forum to be Held at Methodist Church Feb. 9

The public is invited to an open forum discussion on the post war world to be held at the Methodist church on Wednesday evening, Feb. 9 at 7:45 o'clock. This is the second in a series of public meetings presented as a public service by the Methodist church committee on "the church and society."

The general theme is "The Road to Reconstruction," and three speakers will briefly present the gist of important articles on this theme. The speakers are Arthur Tindall, Richard Gordon, and Donald H. Baldwin. They will first conduct a panel discussion under the chairmanship of LBen Howard, after which questions from the audience will be considered.

The meeting is open to all persons of the community.

P. T. A. to Sponsor Paper Drive

The Campbell Union High School P. T. A. voted Wednesday evening to sponsor a paper drive, and any one who has papers or magazines is requested to leave them at the high school at the bus shed.

If it is impossible to deliver them call Mrs. Worthin Grat-tan, chairman of the drive, or the high school, and efforts will be made to collect them. The gasoline situation makes collection a problem but the serious shortage of paper was the deciding factor for the collection campaign.

Youth Forum to Present Noted Chinese Speaker

"Asia and the Post-War World" is the subject for the talk which Dr. Shan Wing Chan will give at the Congregational church Sunday evening, Feb. 6 at 7 o'clock. Dr. Chan is a fluent speaker and an outstanding scholar and authority on the Far East.

He stresses the role of China in the post-war world and the future of Japan in the Pacific area.

The public is invited to hear this discussion of a vital problem.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

Close-Trimmed

By IRVIN S. COBB

IN A town near Boston where nearly all the residents were persons of means there was a smart country-club. Here on Saturday nights whole families gathered, the boys, girls and the younger married couples to dance and the elder statesmen to play a quaint old Persian game called draw-poker.

On a certain March evening the head of a household found himself far in the rear when time came for his family to go. He sent them off in the automobile and told the chauffeur he would walk home.

When the session was concluded the gamesters found it had been snowing heavily for hours. The principal figure in this episode started off afoot in the slush.

Long before he reached his house he was soaked up to the knees. On arrival his first act was to remove his shoes and trousers. With his trousers left on a downstairs radiator to dry he mounted the stairs and passed through the lighted hallway to his chamber. This took him past the room occupied by his favorite daughter.

Out of the darkness to him came these words:
"Well, old sport, I see they finally got your pants!"

House Guests Entertained at Jurras Home

The Anthony Jurras household just outside San Jose was the scene last night of a double celebration, a homecoming for Nana Gollner, celebrated ballerina of the Ballet Theater company, which played in San Jose Tuesday night, and a belated birthday party for Mr. Jurras.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gollner of Los Angeles, who had come north to welcome their daughter, and her husband, Paul Petroff of Copenhagen, also a leading dancer of the ballet company. Mr. and Mrs. Gollner are house guests of the Jurras and their daughter and son-in-law who have just returned to the United States after two years in South America. Both the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jurras, Betty Jean and Geraldine, were present. Geraldine drove from Salinas with Miss Margaret Wallace for the occasion. The male contingent was completed by Dimitri Romanoff of San Francisco and James Lyons of Portland, Oregon, both members of the ballet theatre.

Mrs. Jurras set a beautiful table decorated in red and white with a centerpiece of crystal swans in honor of Miss Gollner's appearance in "Swan Lake" earlier in the evening, and after a delicious supper crowned by a birthday cake for Mr. Jurras, coffee was served in the drawing room.

Bouquets of acacia and Indian paint brush, red berries and bowls of white violets were distributed over the roomy house making an attractive setting for the festivities. These lasted till the small hours and the hospitable Jurras turned the supper party into a house party and kept their guests overnight.

"Kiss and Tell" In San Jose Sunday Evening

A little festival of the theater is offered by the Denny-Watrous management in the presentation of "Kiss and Tell," New York stage comedy, this coming Sunday evening, Feb. 6, and the fabled Ethel Barrymore in "The Corn is Green" on Monday evening, Feb. 7. Both events take place in the civic auditorium, San Jose, and begin at 8:15.

"Kiss and Tell" with Katherine Alexander, Jack Davis and June Dayton, is said to be the "funniest comedy in the world."

Ethel Barrymore, the "greatest actress in the world," has her greatest role as the English social worker in "The Corn is Green." The background of singing by the Welch coal miners, the humor of many of the scenes, added to the tremendous emotional intensity of Miss Barrymore's acting, make great drama. The late Alexander Woolcott wrote his impression as follows: "Words fail me—and it serves me right for having squandered them on lesser occasions—when I try to tell people about the glory that is Ethel Barrymore. As I go about my daily chores, the memory of her mettlesome and gallant performance lingers like a glow at the heart."
